Consider the possibility of a religious vocation
One of the questions parents and teachers often ask children is, "What do you want to be when you grow up?" For younger children the answer can change from week to week. Children may say at one time, "A basketball player," and at another, "An airplane pilot," and at another, "A zookeeper." The answer could depend on whatever story or television show caught their fancy that week. But as children mature, they start considering seriously the answer to that question. As they enter college they begin directing their lives toward what will be a particular profession in life.

This weekend's Gospel highlights the need for workers in the harvest of the kingdom of God. Jesus sends out disciples ahead of him so that they can prepare the way for the places that he intends to visit. But the text is not only about what took place in Galilee and Judea two thousand years ago. As the living word of God, the Gospel also speaks to our lives today. The need for laborers for the harvest is just as great in 2013 as it was in AD 32. As a matter of fact, the need is even greater, since the proclamation of the Gospel goes on in so many more places than in the first century of Christianity.

Parents and grandparents can influence what their children and grandchildren think about as appropriate life choices. We don't need a specific "Vocation Sunday" to ask the question of sons or daughters or grandchildren if they have ever considered the possibility of a religious vocation. The Holy Spirit might just be working through you if you ask. While a life of ministering to others may have its own trials and difficulties, it can also be filled with great joy and satisfaction. Is there someone you can ask, "What do you want to be when you grow up?" After all, "The harvest is abundant but the laborers are few" (Lk 10:2).

14° DOMINGO DEL TIEMPO ORDINARIO

Las urgencias del Reino de Dios están a la mano y al alcance de quien se decida a trabajar en él. A lo largo de nuestra vida de servicio siempre es de carácter urgente la preparación, ya sea para ser ingeniero, médico, mecánico, enfermera o buen padre y madre de familia. Todos debemos de prepararnos para nuestra misión. Y notemos que siempre es para prestar servicio a los demás. A esto es a lo que fueron llamados los 72 discípulos. El simbolismo es claro: la misión de Jesús está creciendo y aparentemente también se está esparciendo. Por lo tanto, la urgencia crece también. ¿Crees que existe esa misma urgencia de preparación en nuestros tiempos? ¿Qué significa que el Reino de Dios está entre nosotros?

Si verdaderamente estamos del lado del Reino, trabajar por la paz y la justicia es lo primordial. Por ejemplo, amar y luchar mano a mano por los derechos de los inmigrantes del mundo entero, promoviendo buenas relaciones entre el gobierno y las agencias de los derechos humanos, es poner el Reino de Dios al alcance de todos. Pero recordemos que el poder lo da Dios, no nosotros. Jesús nos asegura que el gozo de participar haciendo el bien a los que nos rodean es precisamente resultado de nuestra colaboración en el plan de Dios para mejorar el mundo. Sin embargo, quizá nos preguntemos: ¿Por dónde iniciar? Seamos el eco de las Buenas Noticias de Jesús, tal como lo cantamos en el salmo responsorial: "Celebremos su gloria y su poder, cantemos un himno de alabanza".
